The Mails for South Carolina Railroad will continue to close daily at 6 o'clock A. M., and for the Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. STANLEY G. TROTT. P. M.

THE RAFFLE OF THE PRUSSIAN NEEDLE GUN will positively come off this evening, 16th instant, at 8 o'clock precisely, at the Segar Stand, Mi.ls House. Parties interested are hereby notified fined s5. that if they are not present others will throw for HIGH WIND .- The high wind which preceded the rain of Tuesday proved to be almost a tornado. It raised terrific clouds of dust, blew down fences in different parts of the city, and tore a tin roofling from the new custom house. A derrick was also blown down, and some damage inflicted on the masonry.

VALUABLE CARGO.—The ship Mary Ogden, Capt. COLDREY, having on board the following valuable merchandise, was cleared at the Custom House yesterday by Messrs. W. B. Smrth & Co.: 595 bags of Sea Island Cotton, 2345 bales of Upland Cotton, and 100 bbls. Rosin: the cargo valued at the sum of $371.262

"Crisper Coma," and "Circassian Balm," These undoubtedly, are the most perfect and efficacious articles of the kind ever offered the American public. To unbelievers, we would say, "try them and dicts were taken by consent. By far the majority be convinced."

THE EASTERN JOURNAL, published in Bennettsville, S. C., we see in its last issue has changed ownership. It brought us the valedictory of Mr. C. P. Townsend, the old, and the salutatory of Mr. Ww. LITTLE, the new editor. We have known Mr. L. personally for the last seventeen years, and can speak confidently of his fitness for the position. He is a practical printer, a young man of considerable reading, and has recently been admitted to the bar. Mr. L. is at present in Charleston, on business connected with his paper, and we take pleasure in recommending him to the favorable consideration of our merchants, who will find it to their interest to extend their acquaintance in the direction of the rich Pee Dee country.

BURNING OF THE STEAMER KATE.—Yesterday morning at 4 o'clock A.M., the steamer Kate, of the Florida line, while lying at the head of Marsh's Wharf was discovered by several persons attached to the vessels in the neighborhood to be on fire. It was but a few minutes after this discovery before the whole vessel was in flames, and Marsh's Dry Dock, the steamship Falcon, the bark Ange Guardienne, and the British bark Seaman, which were lying in the immediate vicinity, came in great danger of taking fire. This was so evident that several parties attached to these vessels severed the lines that held the Kate to the wharf, and the wind fortunately being from the west, the doomed boat was rapidly drifted into the river, where she soon burnt to the water's edge, and now lies a stranded wreck on the marsh of Schutes Folly, opposite the city. Captain Lockwood visited the wreck during the day, and will endeavor to save the engines and the hull of the boat. The origin of the fire is unknown, but is supposed to be the work of an incendiary, as it was undway when first discovered. The prompt action of the officers and crew of the adjacent shipping, in cutting her lines and letting the boat drift clear of the wharf, was the property from certain destruction. The Kale had recently been thoroughly overhauled and refitted by her owner, and had only loft the dry dock a short time before the occurrence. She was insured for $25,000 in different Northern companies, but this sum will not cover the loss, as she was valued at $55,000. The Kale was a derstand that the articles will be soon placed on staunch and reliable boat, and has long been a favorite with the travelling public, who will miss the accustomed trip to the Land of Flowers. We condole with Captain LOCKWOOD on his loss, but hope soon to see him in command of a similar

THE GERMAN SCHOOL, in Meeting street, opposite the Citadel Square, under the charge of Mr. A. J. HOTTEAN, is one of the most flourishing institutions of our reconstructed city, counting at present one hundred and seventy-five pupils. Germans it is well-known, are always desirous of having their children learn to speak and write their mother tongue, as well as the vernacular English. With this view they send them to Mr. Hoffman's school, where both languages are taught. We paid a visit yesterday to this establishment, and were surprised at the proficiency exhibited by the pupils, by far the greater number of whom are small of stature, and of tender years. They recite with equal facility in English and German, and their writing also was very creditable.

Mr. HOFFMAN is an old and experienced teacher having enjoyed in Germany a long and thorough which came up at this time, though it kept the special training for this profession, and what is perhaps still more to the purpose, is "apt to teach." He is ably assisted by Mr. BERGMAN, also a regularly educated teacher. There are several assistants, we believe in the English

We are not prepared to say that the children of German parents are more intelligent, more at-"nationalities," but from what we saw yesterday, we are pointed to believe that either their home training or their school discipline is more conducive to forming habite of study than we generally find to be the case among the children of our native citizens. It may be that the simultaneous instruction, from their earliest youth, in two languages, is in itself a wholesome mental discipline. We have not given the subject the attention it merits, and only throw out this idea as a guess.

Pro-Nics-Tar Freundschaftsbund.—The merry month of May has always been the favorite season for maroons, pic-nics, and all that class of rural sports and pleasures. In climates further North the weather is not unfrequently too cold to make "Maying" pleasanta, raw wind and a moist atmosphere rendering shawls and even furs sometimes very comfortable. It is otherwise here. The middle of May firds summer fairly under way. The trees afford a grateful umbrageous cov ering, the air is soft and balmy, and the breezes healthful and refreshing. We cannot say much for the birds, which are usuall, considered an casential accessory to a rural scene, as the feathered tribe in the vicinity of our city is represented almost exclusively by the buzzard, a very grave useful and highly respectable looking fowl, but not generally considered ornamental in a landscape, or in place in a pastoral description. Owing to the peninsular situation of Charleston, we are restricted within a comparatively narrow sphere for our pic-nic places. "Up the road" is the only outlet from the city by land. Mount Pleasant has always been the choice of many of our pleasure seekers. In former days Sullivan's Island also was much frequented, and while the new bridge front of their store, No. 30 Vendue Range, sides, was in existence, St. Andrews sometimes would receive its share of merry young marconers. The country above the city affords many excellent places for such recreation, but none so beautifully situated, or in all things so well adapted as the Schutzenplatz. We vester lay took the South Carolina Railroad cars, and, in company with many others, bent on the same errand of pleasure, soon arrived at this SYRUP for children teething. It softens the gums, redelightful spot. A double row of young elms has duces inflammation, cures wind colic, allays all pain, and just been planted, which, in a few years, will form a handsome avenue from the Railroad to the Club awakes invigorated and refreshed. The day passed off pleasantly, diversified by the sual incidents to be looked for on such occasions: catching grass snakes ond chasing lizzards. swingog, tumbling, etc. The comforts of the inner were uot forgotten, thanks to the illustrious m, Mr. Nolte, and the assiduous attentions efficient Committee.

PERSONAL.-Professor MAC Evoy and family, after a brief but most successful season at Hibernian Hall, left in the steamer Falcon, yesterday afternoon, for New York via Baltimore.

THE TRINITY CHURCH Sabbath School Pic-nic came off yesterday at Mount Pleasant. There was quite a large attendance, all enj ying themparticulars of this in creating festival.

MASONIC JEWELS .- The Masonic fraternity were

mong the numerous sufferers by the late war, and in many instances their regalia and jewels were captured or destroyed by the enemy. During the siege of Charleston the property of many of the city Lodges was removed to Columbia, for greater security, but it either fell a prey to SHERMAN'S Bummers or was destroyed at the burning of that city. Landmark Lodge, No. 76, was a sufferen from these causes, losing their regalia, jewels and tools. At the close of the war the few surviving members endsavored to collect their companions and to rebuild the Lodge. This has been done, but the regulia, jewels and other implements of the craft had to be replaced, and it was decided to rive them made in Charleston. It was ascertained hat the work could be performed as well and as heap here as in the Northern cities.

We had the pleasure yesterday of examining the new regalia and their appurtenances, and can safely say that they are in every respect equal to those alsowhere. The jew JOSEPH BOOK, and the engraving and decorating by Mr. Wat. FISCHEB. They are of pure silver, letting the boat drift clear of the wharf, was the means of saving half a million dollars worth of other articles are in keeping with the jewels, and the regalia and tools are worthy of the Lodge. which though young, has an abundance of life and energy among its members,

The work on the jewels and tools is extremely neat and ornamental, and reflects great credit upon both Mr. Book and Mr. FISCHER. We unexhibition at Mesers. WHILDEN & Co.'s Jowelry store, where the curious in these matters will be able to inspect them more closely. --0--

MAROON OF THE CHARLESTON FIRE COMPANY .-On Tuesday last the Charleston Fire Company knowing that "Merrie May" was the month for out door sports and communings with nature, took the Mount Pleasant Ferry Boat by storm, and accompanied by a band of music, were carried to that village, where preparations had been made to spend the day. Trencken's Hall at the head of the long wharf, was impressed for the occasion and the gallant firemen with their invited guests and a number of ladies, were soon engaged in the pleasures of the merry dance. The morning hours assed quickly away, as the amusements were varied and the whole party were evidently determined to enjoy themselves. A luncheon served to divide the morning pleasantly, and when the Caterer announced dinner, it was unanimously conceded that Mount Pleasant should no longer be called Hungry Neck, and the name was rated obsclete. The rain storm party in doors, cooled the atmosphere and laid the dust, and when the skies had resumed their serenity, Tiencken's was like a banquet hall deserted, for the guests gladly availed themselves of the opportunity to stroll in the woods along the bluff, and in the village, while some of the ladies were invited to take seats in the large swings on the ground, and were sent to dizzy heights by the strong arms of their firemen beaux. The Company had chosen Mount Pleasant for their company ground, knowing, from experience, that there would be no lack of enjoyment, and the result proved the correctness of their choice; for the party did not return to the city until the last boat, and then with the firm conviction that they had spent a pleasant day.
